APPENDIX IV.

[Vide answer to starred question No. 729 asked by Sri N. K. Palanisami at the meeting of the Legislative Assembly held on 30th October 1958, page 117 supra.]

In the year 1892, the Government of Madras entrusted Sir Frederick Nicholson with the task of making an estimate of the volume of agricultural debt. As a result of his enquiry, Sir Frederick Nicholson concluded that the amount of rural indebtedness at the beginning of any harvest was about Rs. 45 crores for the Madras State as then constituted.

2. In 1930 the Madras Provincial Banking Enquiry Committee made an estimate of the rural indebtedness of the Province and it chose four districts including Coimbatore and Madurai for investigation. On the basis of the data the Committee considered that the total debt for the province as then constituted was in the neighbourhood of Rs. 150 crores.

3. In 1935 an enquiry into agricultural indebtedness was carried out by Sri W. R. S. Satthianadhan, I.C.S. He estimated the total agricultural debt at about Rs. 200 crores in the State as then constituted.

4. In 1944 Government appointed Dr. B. V. Narayanswamy Naidu to enquire into the extent of agricultural indebtedness. He estimated the total debt in 1945 as Rs. 218 crores for Madras State as then constituted.

5. In 1951, the Reserve Bank of India conducted an All-India Rural Credit Survey. In Madras State as it is now constituted the districts of Chingleput, Ramanathapuram and Coimbatore were selected, and a survey made in eight typical villages in each district. It was found that the average debt was Rs. 745 per family.
